JOHN KELLY

Born 1965, Bristol, UK

BIOGRAPHY

John Kelly was born in Bristol, UK in 1965. His family immigrated to Australia the same year. In 1985 Kelly obtained a Bachelor of Arts (Visual Arts – Painting) from RMIT University, Melbourne, where he also completed his Master of Arts in 1995. As a winner of the 1995 Anne & Gordon Samstag International Visual Arts Scholarship, he travelled to London to study as an Affiliate Student at the Slade School of Art from 1996 to 1997.

Kelly held his first show at Niagara Galleries, Melbourne in 1988 and later his first UK one-man show at the Piccadilly Gallery, London. Kelly is best known for his paintings and large sculptures of Williams Dobell's cows, papier-mâché used during WWII to confuse enemy aircrafts of the location of the Australian airbases. His sculpture of these cows have made their way to exhibitions of the Champs Elysees, Paris in Les Champs de la Sculpture (2000) and Monte Carlo in La Parade des Animaux, (2002). More recently, however, Kelly's work has been based on specific motifs, most notably the logo of the Arts Council of Australia.

He currently lives with his family in Cork, Ireland.
