MEDIA RELEASE

15 Roylston Street Paddington NSW 2021
Open 7 days 10am to 6pm

Janet Luxton's exquisite paintings capture the magnificence and diversity of the creatures of the natural world. Janet paints with deft technical skill and sensitivity, her astute observation revealing the distinct character of every animal she portrays. Her close and personal connection to each of these unique beings resonates poignantly through every meticulous brushstroke, drawing the viewer in to appreciate the complexity and sheer majesty of wildlife in all of its forms.

"The sustainable and ethical practice of agriculture and active conservation of the natural environment are vital if our world is to survive in a form recognisable to us. I am inspired by the many small agricultural producers adopting holistic sustainable management techniques raising their animals and birds in family groups on genuinely free range pasture. Likewise I hugely admire those who tirelessly work to preserve the endangered birds, animals and plants across this magical planet", says Janet.

"My paintings are an attempt to portray the beautiful diversity and individuality of the animals and birds caught up in these turbulent times. All life is truly unique and deserves our unreserved respect and support. I hope my efforts might encourage others to think likewise".

Janet Luxton will be in residence at Australian Galleries working on a painting during the exhibition, providing viewers with a rare opportunity to witness the artist's process as it unfolds.

The Questioning Eye is current until 23 September 2018.
